

Council process

Where have all the so called self proclaimed council watchers gone? Good on you councillor Aaron Edwards for questioning the process which saw the council spend close to $250,000 to date.

Don't "pull your head in" as Councillor Kahu Sutherland suggested — because that is exactly what school yard bullies would want you to do — keep quiet and let us get on with the task of doing exactly what we want with other people's money.

The council at times lacks a moral and ethical compass and needs young people like yourself to front up — please do not take our silence as condoning bully tactics or behind the door dealing.

The $250,000 spent on the Hundertwasser proposal would suggest that it is already a forgone conclusion that it will happen.

Soon we will be subjected to a consultation process on the same project — what a farce.
