Mayoral mysteries

Will Mr (Stan) Semenoff ever tire of being obnoxious towards those with whom he disagrees?

The most telling comment in his letter in the Advocate of November 17 was, "It should not have been published without it being referred to me."

Give the man an army and he could be right up there with those who seem to believe that they have a god-given right to demand that the media publish only that which is favourable to them.

I did not notice the wink but the mayor's body language is often quite expressive in meetings and may not be obvious to him.

I did, for example, earlier in the same meeting, notice his nodding in agreement with me while Inspector Dimery outlined his views on alcohol and violence.

But then, of course, that is a different story.

Somewhat surprisingly, I have also since experienced a handshake from the mayor who greeted me as Wayne.
